

Welcome to Santa's Workshop!

With the COVID-19 pandemic, even Santa's elves are social distancing.

It's Christmas Eve, and you are the only elf in the reindeer stables.

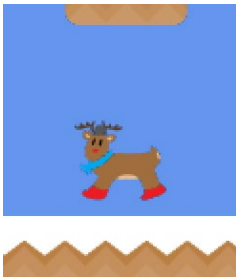

Things can get messy this time of year, and you have to make sure that the right reindeer are fed so that they are all ready to haul Santa to all the homes in the world.

'Twas the night before Christmas,

And all through the stables,

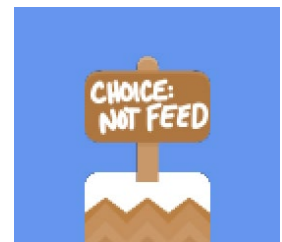

Only one creature was hustling,

An underpaid elf

You can signal whether a reindeer should be fed by moving over the reindeer. You can only move forward, because we must always keep moving forward (and because we're low on time, bub; no dilly-dallying), by pressing the forward arrow.

If they have already been fed, jump over them and move over the sign instead. To do this this, press the up arrow.

The other elves have left pieces of instructions as to which reindeer should be fed, and your work-from-home elves will have to help you get through them quickly before the time runs out.

Mistakes will get you a strike, and after three strikes, you lose (and may have a talk with your supervisor).

Here are the instructions that we could scrounge up:

IF WEARING A BLUE SCARF AND RED BOOTS, FEED
OTHERWISE, IF IN YELLOW BOOTS AND A GREY HAT, DO NOT FEED
OTHERWISE, IF IN A BLACK HAT AND A WHITE SCARF, DO NOT FEED
OTHERWISE, IF IN RED BOOTS AND A PURPLE HAT, DO NOT FEED
OTHERWISE, IF IN A PINK SCARF AND GREEN BOOTS, FEED
OTHERWISE, IF IN A WHITE SCARF AND YELLOW BOOTS, FEED
OTHERWISE, IF IN A PURPLE HAT AND GREEN BOOTS, DO NOT FEED
OTHERWISE, IF IN YELLOW BOOTS AND A BLACK HAT, DO NOT FEED

Good luck, Elf!
